

Dr. Frédéric André is presently acting as product line architect at Thales AVS. He develops traveling wave tubes for space applications in Vélizy-Villacoublay (France) and Ulm (Germany). His interests extend to advanced concepts including Hamiltonian time domain model of TWTs, carbon nanotube cathodes, and sub-terahertz TWTs.