

Edward Foley, Capuchin

Edward Foley, Capuchin, is the Duns Scotus Professor Emeritus of Spirituality, retired Professor of Liturgy and Music, and founding director of the Ecumenical Doctor of Ministry Program at Catholic Theological Union. He holds graduate degrees in ministry, music, and theology including a Ph.D. from the University of Notre Dame. He has released collections of CDs and DVDs, authored or edited 31 books, and produced 57 book chapters, 47 peer review articles, and over 250 encyclopedia, dictionary, and pastoral articles translated into 9 languages. He has lectured around the world, from the catechetical institute in Mumbai to the Mayo Clinic, for 6,000 teens in the Houston Astrodome to graduate students in Brisbane, from St. Scholastica College in Manila to Wescott College in Cambridge. Fr. Foley is a Lilly sabbatical Fellow, the Berakah laureate with a lifetime achievement award from the North American Academy of Liturgy, a recipient of a major grant from the John Temple Foundation on preaching and the sciences, and the honored receiver of the 2021 Frederick McManus award from the Federation of Diocesan Liturgical Commissions. For the Fall of 2022, he has accepted an endowed faculty fellowship at the University of Notre Dame. He presides and preaches at Old St. Patrick's Church in Chicago and St. Mary's Church in Riverside.